ANNOUNCEMENTS

PREPARE NOW TO HELP PREVENT FROZEN PIPES AND COSTLY LEAKS

Fall is the perfect time to get your home's plumbing ready for winter. A few simple steps before temperatures drop can help prevent frozen pipes, unexpected leaks, and expensive repairs.

- Disconnect and store garden hoses. Leaving a hose attached during freezing weather can trap water and increase the risk of damage to the outdoor faucet and connected piping.
- Protect outdoor faucets and exposed pipes. Install insulated faucet covers and insulate plumbing in unheated areas.
- Locate your water shutoff valve. Make sure everyone in your household knows where it is and how to turn off the water if a pipe breaks.
- Winterize your sprinkler system. Shut off its water supply and have irrigation lines properly drained according to the system's requirements.
- Plan ahead for winter travel. Keep your home adequately heated and consider having someone check for leaks while you are away. Ask a plumber whether shutting off your home's water supply is appropriate for your plumbing and heating systems.

A little preparation this fall can help protect your home all winter long!
